Gum Chewers Attention

An eastern medical exchange says: It is not alone by the breathing of infected air that diphtheria may be communicated from child to child at school. Indeed, those who deny that the air is often or ever a medium of communication of the disease, and who are at all familiar with the thoughtless ways of little children at school, must yet recognize that the possible means of communication by almost direct contact are many. Who has not seen a school boy with his mouth full of marbles taken from a mate? Children often borrow lead pencils, which by instinct they wet in their mouth; they borrow sponges from one another to wipe their slates, which they moisten with saliva. In so Democratic a community as a public school, roots in a very common thing for all the children of the room to drink from the same cup, their clothes hang in close contact in closets or ante-rooms. They manifest their likes and dislikes by biting or refusing to bite from the same apple; and little girls often pledge eternal friendship by that classic symbol "sharing gum." Though these things may occur outside the school, they are more frequent the more children are brought together.

Newspapers.

Springfield Republican.
Newspapers seem to us to show a marvelous improvement within the last fifteen years, and the promises of a great growth toward a high ideal. Here and now we do not define the improvement and the promise. But the marked tendencies towards condensation, the culling, the purifying and the pertinence of news, towards conscientious and thorough work in reporting and in reviewing; toward embracing all objects of human interest, with preference for the best; toward independence in every line of action and thought, social, religious and political; toward the elevation and stimulation of the best there is in humanity—these deserve consideration and encouragement.

Professor Walter's End.

Chicago Enquirer.
Investigation showed that the remains were those of Professor Louis Walter, an humble manufacturer of pyrotechnics living at 1595 Jackson street, St. Louis. The Professor got very drunk yesterday, and became convinced that the Presidential calamity would ruin the pyrotechnic business, and worked himself into such a fit of melancholy as rendered life a thing not worth seeing to the end. He went down in the dyke, lay down, put a charge of dynamite on his breast and touched it off. It went off and he with it.

Connection Church Statistics.

The Connecticut Bible Society has canvassed 68,859 families, and found 1,493 Protestant families without Bibles and 11,758 who don't go to church. The Congregational denomination is the most numerous, containing 17,220 families. The Roman Catholic comes next with 15,315; then the Methodist with 12,300, the Episcopal with 7,907, and the Baptist with 6,202. There are only 151 Unitarian families in the Wooden Nutmeg State, but there are 5,153 that represent themselves as having "no religious preference."

A Disappointing Man.

He was a gentleman of dignity and standing in the community, and when he remarked to his next door neighbor in the presence of a number of people at a swell party: "Ah, Mrs. Sharp, not every boy is like your son!" her cheeks flushed with motherly pride and gratification and she replied: "I knew it!" And then he added: "I'm mighty glad they ain't!" and the flush faded from her cheeks, and an ugly look came in her eyes, and the listeners had to turn away to conceal their smiles. Some men are real brutes.

A COMPANION.

Speaking of the autumn reviews of the vast standing armies of the nations of Europe now taking place the London Times thus moralizes: We should be sorry to think the present the normal state of Europe. If we may not dream of peace there is no need that we should suffer a continual incubus of war. The old saying that if you desire peace you must prepare for war is not to be received without a grain of discretion. Preparation for war may be carried to excess, making it as bad as the disease it is to prevent. At the present rate it appears that by the end of this year half a million Europeans of all nations will have landed in the United States in order to link themselves for good with the fortunes of that Republic. The immigration is much more likely to increase than to decrease, for American enterprise is always on hand in the allways and settlements prepared for the incoming population. That immigrant generally draws others after him. The great majority of the European populations have no personal interest in military successes beyond those necessary to the possession and enjoyment of their own little property. They gain no honor and no glory that can compensate for substantial losses and terrible risks. They do not like being forcibly taken away from the home dear to them, and the employment they are beginning to learn, to another not to their taste, wholly unprofitable, and finally ending in nothing but waste of time.

THE DUTY OF THE HOUR.

Our readers are cautioned that efforts are being made to manufacture public opinion by both the factions in the railroad trial. Instead of realizing the fact that they are seriously compromised by being participants in a disgraceful affair, some of them seem to glory in their prominence and think they have captured the community by their dash and style. The papers in San Francisco have been stuffed with both sides of the question, and stories get started here and are circulated gratuitously by thoughtless outsiders. The stories are so entirely irreconcilable that nothing but sworn evidence will ever clear them up, and even that may be confused. The plain duty of the community is to keep their tempers and wait for the examination. There should be no wrangling now over the facts because no authoritative statement can be obtained at present. We hope to see a dignified trial and full justice to the living and the dead.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Mexican Government is said to have given a French banking firm a concession for a "National Bank of Mexico," with a capital of eight million dollars, the right to issue $3 of notes for every $1 dollar of paid up capital, special privileges in dealing in Government bonds, and the use of a large Government account.

The crank Wilkins, who visited President Arthur to-day, ought to be carefully inserted in an asylum. He is not ornamental except in a crank colony where he belongs.

The Fay gang has reached San Francisco. The daily Exchange refers to the audience as "two thousand idiots." The Exchange man is an old medium for spirits himself.

We learn that the Regents of our State dormitory have voted to invest $64,000 in State bonds. Will the Carson papers learn how, when, why, and they will do it.

Bodie Free Press: If a man robs a chicken coop in Reno he is tarred and feathered; if he kills a man his ball is fixed at $5,000. Conservative Reno!

According to the GAZETTE's dispatches to-day, the Rev. Talmage would rather be sensational than be right.

The bill for the care of the State insane for the month of September was $4,141. There are at this time 141 patients in Dr. Clark's institution.

TO-DAY'S NEWS

Press Dispatches to the EVENING GAZETTE.

EASTERN.

Talmage on Guiteau and Mormonism.

NEW YORK, October 3. A large part of Talmage's sermon Sunday was on Mormonism. He said: It needed a father and husband like Garfield to understand the value of a Christian home and to annihilate the abominations of Mormonism. Perhaps the time has not yet come—perhaps it was necessary that a nation's indignation be aroused to a greater pitch of anger against Mormonism, before the extirpation should be attempted. I will not say that Guiteau was a Mormon, or would I dare to say he was not, but Guiteau says he shot Garfield in the name of the Lord. If he was not a Mormon he was one of the Oneida community, whose chief doctrine was the right to profusion of wives. He had the spirit of Mormon licentiousness, of Mormon cruelty, and Mormon murder. I should not wonder if in the great day, when all such things are revealed, it should be found that he was the paid agent of that old hag which sits making mouths at high heaven between the Rocky Mountains and the Sierra Nevadas.

Threats Against Conkling.

UTICA, N. Y., October 3. The writer of the letter who said it contained threats of assassination against Conkling has been discovered, and interviewed. He is Henry J. Rowley of the Second ward, Utica, who has been a Republican speaker and who offered the strong Garfield sympathy resolution at a late ward caucus, which received two votes only. A more moderate resolution, offered by the Stalwarts, being adopted instead. Rowley has no particular occupation, but says he formerly kept hotel at Covastoga, where he employed D. H. Johnson, not Jackson, now of No. 14 South street, New York, to whom the letter was written. Rowley admits the letter contained an expression of hope that somebody would put a bullet through Conkling if he attempted to enter the Republican State Convention. A dispatch has been sent to Police Commissioner Mason, on behalf of Rowley, authorizing him to make the letter public.

President Pro Tem.

NEW YORK, October 3. The Times says: careful research into records of the Senate show that it has always been the custom of that body when the presiding officer has been removed by death, or by reason of expiration of his term, since the last session, to choose a President pro tem before the newly-elected Senators are sworn in. This may now seem a wicked provision, but it is right and just. Some parties think that the Republicans should make a fight for the organization of the Senate, but the records are clear and indisputable, and they should settle the case. Debate over this matter will not alter the facts of history.

The Star Route Cases.

NEW YORK, October 3. The Times prints an interview with Col. Bliss regarding the prosecution of the Star route cases. The work, he said, is being pushed steadily along. It is an enormous and apparently almost endless job. The general public has no conception of the amount of labor that has to be performed. The Guiteau case and one or two others will prevent a trial of Brady before November. Brady's counsel will probably delay the case until the meeting of Congress in December. Their reason for wanting to delay the case until that time is because they believe they have friends in Congress who will aid them.

Windom will Risk a Re-election.

ST. PAUL, October 4. The Pioneer Press will announce on Saturday, on good authority, that Secretary Windom insists that President Arthur regard his resignation as bona fide, and accept it in time for him to reach St. Paul before the assembling of the special session of the Legislature on October 10th, from which he will risk re-election to the Senate. Windom feels that he can leave the Treasury with a reputation of having made no mistakes, and cannot afford to take chances of the grave errors of a new Administration.

The Senate Control.

NEW YORK, October 4. A Republican Senatorial caucus has been called for Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, to devise a plan for organization.

zation. The Democrats meet at the same hour, and some compromise is expected. Most of the Democratic Senators here oppose a compromise, and hold that under the law and custom, the organization of the Senate ought to be within Democratic control. Some Democrats, however, prefer, if possible, to agree quietly in advance. It is stated that Pendleton and Garland are among the latter class, but say they expect to abide by the caucus dictum. Both sides desire to avoid a partisan contest, but it is not impossible that one may occur. The President of the Senate being close to the Presidency of the United States, only one life intervening, both parties are anxious to possess the office, and think it worth a struggle.

Washington News.

WASHINGTON, October 4. C. W. Moulton, of Cincinnati, to-day filed before Commissioner Raum a brief holding that private banks are not subject to taxation on called bonds. Raum has informally so decided, but at the Treasury it is learned that investigation in regard to the liabilities of private banks in the matter of taxation, is still proceeding in large cities, and discoveries are continually being made which increase the amount of taxes due the Government, although they get the benefit of every doubt. The aggregate amount due the Government from them is over $2,000,000.

James Ginnidy, who stole several bolts of cloth entrusted to him by a draper of the new State department building, has been arrested in Washington.

Witnesses in the Guiteau case were examined by the Grand Jury to-day.

Another Crank Visitor.

NEW YORK, October 4. Among the callers upon President Arthur this morning were Senator Saunders, General Sharpe and Postmaster Pearson. A man named Wilkins, evidently a crank, called, but was not admitted. He had a long document containing large numbers of signatures, and was looking for a foreign consulship. He said the document was a letter from Governor Jewell, and signed by the most prominent men in the country.

FOREIGN.

The Parnell Reception.

CORK, Ireland, October 4. A great success attended yesterday's proceedings here on the occasion of a public reception to Parnell. There was a splendid display made by the ladies, and a phalanx of horsemen, The Parnell Guards, brought up the rear of the procession, which was nearly two miles long. In some streets triumphal arches were erected. Father Sheehy spoke in favor of Irish independence, and concluded by saying he spoke to the people in the present great republic of the West. Redpath said America is waiting with interest the heroic struggle for freedom in the fatherland. Parnell, speaking at the banquet, said O'Connor was leaving for America next week, and he was glad of to-day's demonstration as O'Connor could report to the people of America that there was no lack of spirit in Ireland.

The Irish Land Question.

LONDON, October 3. A company is forming with 30,000,000 pounds capital, under the auspices of members of the Royal Family, for the purpose of purchasing waste lands in Ireland to be reclaimed and let or sold to tenants on easy terms.

The land league in Drogheda has adopted resolutions urging the American government to interfere in behalf of subjects who are American citizens.

Reaction in Ireland.

CORK, October 4. At a meeting near Ballinglass, County Wicklow, for the purpose of establishing an organization for the protection of farmers and others, who have incurred the displeasure of the Land league, Walter Hume, Long, M. P., and other farmers being present, it was resolved to establish an association to protect boycotted persons, and special farmers desiring to resist the dictation of the League.

The loyal inhabitants of Queens county, including Protestant and Catholic farmers, who had not joined the League, have formed a committee to counteract the League, they arranging to help farmers who cannot get their crops saved.

The convention and various branches of the Ennis League have passed resolutions summoning the branches to adopt stringent measures against indiscriminate boycotting.

Corruption in India.

CALCUTTA, October 4. The Commission appointed to inquire into the Transport and Commissary operations during the Afghan campaign, have discovered a vast system of bribery and corruption. Several influential native bankers have been arrested in India.

French Complications.

LONDON, Oct. 4. A Times Paris special says: Grevy will undoubtedly send for Gambetta and give him the fullest liberty in choosing a cabinet as soon as Ferry is overthrown.

WESTERN.

Another Young Girl Travels.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 4. A seventeen year old daughter of a prominent Oakland man, on Saturday eloped with a gambler named Snob Price. They first went to Centerville where the gambler tried to seduce the girl. Failing, the couple started for Pescadero for the purpose of getting married. Before reaching that place they were overtaken by an officer, and the girl returned home cured. Snob Price was not arrested, as the father did not wish the notoriety of a trial.

A Sentimental Suicide.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 4. This morning George S. Ringsley, a sailor, was found lying on his face in his bunk on board the ship Paul Revere, dead. He had strangled himself by drawing a leather belt tightly around his neck. Under his feet, covered with bloody froth, was a copy of the weekly Rescue, the Good Templars organ open to an article on "The Use of Liquor in Causing Suicide." Deceased had been on a spree for several days.

Killed in Self Defense.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 3. In an altercation over a game of cards at San Gabriel yesterday afternoon Elisha Caresales commenced slashing around with his knife, when Manuel Mausear drew a pistol and shot him dead. The coroner's verdict was self defense.

A Fatal Shot.

BENICIA, CAL., October 4. As the emigrant train was pulling out from Elmira last evening, August Bahr was shot in the abdomen by a pistol in the hands of an intimate friend. The men were examining the pistol at Suison. The owner of the pistol was taken in charge. It is thought that the wound is fatal.

—The deaths in New York are 38,500 this year, or an increase of 6,000 over last.

—The Herald in referring to Captain Gifford's statements says nothing has been received giving the faintest color to a theory that the Jennette has failed in her great mission.

—W. T. Moore, an American, preached a memorial sermon on the life and character of the late President Garfield in Macon Hall, Kensington, England, Sunday. The hall was crowded.

Postponed.

On account of the funeral of Mr. Scoville Wednesday, the monthly literary and musical entertainment at the Baptist Church will be postponed from Wednesday to Thursday evening.

A VALUABLE SUGGESTION.

The Most Favorable Railroad Line Between Reno and Pluma. County.

The best railroad route from Reno to Quincy has never yet been spoken of. It was studied out by a GAZETTE reporter while engaged in other business than surveying railroad lines. It would start out of Reno, and keeping north of the river all the time, would run nearly west to a point near Crystal Peak, but north of it, and strike up through Dog Canyon where Kata & Henry's flume comes out. The Creek cuts through the ridge between the Truckee river and Dog valley, and is very much lower than the wagon road that runs over the hill. At the mouth of the Canyon the road would swing to the south and follow up the valley to the top of the divide next to Little Truckee. The old Virginia house stood on the top of this divide. The line would have down hill for a few miles to the creek that runs into Little Truckee, and would then turn northwest and cross the low divide into Sardine valley. A couple of miles above Sardine on an easy grade, the summit is reached, and the creek that runs down by Loyalton could be followed right into Sierra valley. Or a still higher ridge might be got over west of Sardine and the line run into Sierraville, at the head of the valley. To run across Sierra valley into Feather river Canyon is all plain work except the swamp lands in the middle of the valley. From there it would go down through Mohawk valley on the lines surveyed, to Jamison and Quincy.

THE ROAD WOULD STRIKE EXCELLENT

just above Crystal Peak, and run in it all the way to Loyalton. It would cut into Sierra valley about the center. Loyalton is on the east side of the valley, fourteen miles from Sierraville at the south end, and the same distance from Summit at the north of the valley, and also from Beckwith at the northwest, and would give better accommodations to the people than if it was at either end. If it took the route to Sierraville it would have better timber west of Sardine than there is north, on Loyalton Creek. It would have fine timber all the way around the head of the valley, and also have hard ground instead of swamps to build on. It would also get summer travel to Independence and Webber lakes and to Campbell's hot springs. There are dairies and stock ranges all the way that would be a great deal of help to a railroad. There would be some snow to contend with, but never over three or four feet, and it being in the timber and in a flat country there would be but little drifting and no slides. It would give the very shortest route to Sierra valley that could be got. By Beckwith it will be just about forty miles to the Summit. The new way it would be about thirty miles from Reno to Loyalton by section lines and allowing for curves it could certainly be reached in less than thirty-five miles. From Reno to the mouth of Dog Creek Canyon would be twelve miles by section lines with a rise of about thirteen hundred feet. Through Dog valley to the Virginia house, a distance of about four miles, the road would rise about five hundred feet. The line west of Sardine would be up and down, over ridges, falling in two or three miles as many hundred feet. If the road kept around the north side of the valley, it would get on top of the divide with no grade at all. From there down to Loyalton would be ten miles, with a fall of something like fourteen hundred feet. These figures are rough estimates made with a pocket aneroid, and may vary considerably, but not enough to spoil the route.

Wholesale Buyers.

Parties who have purchasing to do in San Francisco and cannot go there themselves, will find the firm of Tunbery & Winter not only safe and reliable, but very efficient in point of advantages in prices. They do a very large business for dealers in Arizona and Southern California, but heretofore have not canvassed Nevada. Their lines are well laid all through the city, and they can buy goods at the lowest wholesale rates. Read their advertisement.

Bar Privilege.

The bar privilege at the State Fair has been let to George Becker, proprietor of the New Pacific Brewery and the Granite Saloon, for $725. George will keep the business in good shape, and give the thirsty value received in quality and quantity.

Nevada at Napa.

The GAZETTE has heard from Joe Whitehead, now at the Napa Collegiate Institute. He is well satisfied with the excellent management of the school, and says the young Nevadans are giving good reports of their progress. At present there are six students from Nevada: Edward E. Winfrey, of Reno; Miss Alice Ede, of Truckee Meadows, M. C. Randolph, of Tybo; Miss Lizzie Marden, of Aurora; G. H. Buckland, of Fort Churchill, and J. B. Whitehead, who hails from Hardserable. Young Winfrey has been there two years, and will graduate from the regular course next May. He is a diligent student and a general favorite in the school.

The Autopsy.

At his own request a post mortem examination was held this morning upon the body of the late Major S. C. Scoville by Drs. Lewis, Bergman and Lee. The ball entered below the sixth rib, two and three-quarter inches to the left of the meridian line. It ranged backward and downward, cutting the diaphragm and perforating the stomach and left kidney. There was an extensive peritoneal infiltration and a large quantity of free blood in the abdominal cavity. The ganglionic system was completely paralyzed, which accounts for the non action of the morphine and brandy administered. Under the circumstances either the wound in the stomach or kidney was necessarily fatal.

Cold's—Ammon's Cough Syrup.

It is astonishing the number of intelligent people who regard a cold or cough as a trivial matter, something unnecessary to pay attention to. How many times have you heard the expression, "O nothing the matter only a slight cold." Yes, my friend, and nine-tenths of the many thousand consumptives who walk the earth to-day, doomed to a premature death, said the same thing. We pay attention to a cold, and promptly too. Our remedy is Ammon's Cough Syrup; some other preparations are good, but we have found it by far the best.

Politics and Matrimony.

Lowell Courier.

The death of Mrs. Millard Fillmore serves to recall a singular incident connected with her two husbands. In 1847, while she was the wife of Ezekiel McIntosh, of Albany, Mr. Fillmore was candidate for the office of State Comptroller of New York. Some persons who desired to defeat his election raised about $30,000 for the purpose, and placed it in the hands of McIntosh, instructing him to place it in a bank in his own name and not to make the matter public. He did as desired, but before the fund could be drawn out to use for election purposes the treasurer fell sick and died. Mr. Fillmore was elected Comptroller, and many years afterward married Mrs. McIntosh, and received as a part of her dowry, the money that had been raised to defeat his election. The ex-President used to enjoy telling the story, and often remarked that "the money was placed where it would do the most good" to him.

The Progress of Cincinnati.

Cincinnati is growing more and more esthetic. A Japanese pottery painter from Tokio has been hired to teach his art to the female devotees of ceramics over there. His name is Ichiduka Kenso. It would look well on a plate itself, but the average Cincinnati loves to eat his pork chops on a plate which has on it the picture of a green crane standing on one leg in a red alfalfa field, talking to a yellow globe circling in a chrome yellow sky. Still, notwithstanding all this refinement of taste, the circus agents report that when they hang out their inflammatory bills in Cincinnati some of the best citizens of the town come and sit on the sidewalk and gaze for hours at the gory picture of a rhinoceros ripping up an elephant with a shoemaker's paste horn.

A Few Thoughts About Women—By a Jilted Man.

Women are sadly ruled by the law of compensation. Those who are good are never pretty; those who are pretty are never good.

To a man, truth is what he knows; to a woman, truth is what she believes.

The only perfect woman man ever knows is his mother.

All intimate friendships among women have the same basis, and always exist between those who resemble each other in figure—they can borrow each other's dresses.

Women invariably fear death—and I don't wonder.
